SENTINEL 1950

Published by

Senior Class of Lawrenceville High School,

Lawrenceville, Virginia

DEDICATION

Our senior sponsors, Mrs. R. J. Jones and Mrs. E. G. Currin, Jr., have shown unbounded interest in the activities of our school as well as our class—no criticism is justified, no praise is adequate. To them, we therefore dedicate this volume of the "Sentinel" in an attempt to honor them.

Foreword

THIS is our "Sentinel" for you. May it bring to you a bit of the grave and the gay that pervades the spirit of L. H. S. May it catch for each, in the years to come, a fleeting memory of the students, especially the Seniors of 1949-1950. May it constantly remind each Senior of courage and stanchness, truth and loyalty, faith and love,—characteristics of a true "sentinel".

Kennel Kapers of the Klass of '50 .

At last we were in the doghouse, and there never was a more scared bunch of pups. We were scared of that awful creature that the brave old dogs called "Fessor"; we were scared of the trainers; we were scared of all the big dogs; and we were scared of the other puppies from Lawrenceville, Charlie Hope, Ebony, Valentine, Dolphin and Brodnax. Soon though our special trainers, Miss Hawthorne, Miss Lowery, and Mrs. Witten, got us started, and we settled down to work as the freshman pups of L. H. S.

We went for a run to Richmond and Williamsburg; we started a stage curtain fund; we had a picnic; some of us even managed to join the Latin Club, Library Club and 4-H Club, and then all of a sudden we were the big sophomore pups.

As big puppies we were allowed to run about the kennel, and we took advantage of the opportunity. We found out that being chained up in detention hall wasn't so bad, and we really gave Miss Lashley, Miss Powell, and Mr. Darden a time with our fights. Some of the female pups joined the newly organized A. A. and made lots of money at the Saturday night parties. The feminine pups started taking Home Ec. and joined the F. H. A. and the males joined the F. F. A. and the forces of the fighting Bulldogs. The person we had so respectfully called Mr. Jones our freshman year, we got up nerve enough to call "Fessor." We thought we were really "hotdogs", but an occasional nip or growl from the big dogs reminded us that we still had a long way to go.

Our Junior year we began to howl for some recognition, and we began our training as leaders when we were inducted with ceremony into the Beta Club, the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y. We found out again what it was to be scared in Coach Lusardi's math classes; we discussed everything from clauses to communism in Mr. Settle's English class; Mrs. Jones listened to our whinings and troubles in Spanish and history classes and we got into trouble at activity period. Miss Treakle, Mrs. Nelson, and Mr. Settle put out a copy of the "Bow-Wow" and had class meetings while we dogs argued. You would have thought we were kittens instead of dogs the way we got all balled up in crepe paper while we were decorating for the Junior-Senior, but that night the blue lights and pine trees made our dog house look really romantic. We must have been good our junior year, judging by the juicy bones Mr. Settle gave us in the form of ten cent candy bars at Christmas, his new recipe for salted peanuts at the Junior-Senior, and cokes during English exams. That was the year of our great sports triumphs, and we little dogs were proud to have some building heroes in our midst. Tommy Witten and Gene Thomas made a good showing for the L. H. S. kennels in contests and at Boys' State. We were sure by the end of our Junior year the doghouse couldn't get along without us.

And now we are Seniors—the Big Dogs of Lawrenceville. We really took over the place, becoming the "barkers" in all the clubs. The Tri-Hi-Y set out to find which of the teachers had been the cutest puppy. Beryl was chosen as the best specimen of doghood in a contest sponsored by the Beta Club. The Senior girls really triumphed in basketball, and Gene Hartsell was given a trophy for being the most valuable Bulldog in football. The big success of the year in our doggish world was the Senior Play. We caused our Senior trainers a lot of worry when the cast went to parties in its honor instead of studying the lines of "Our Girls", but we took in loads of money and were told the next day that our play was the talk of the town. Our "Bow-Wows" have got praise, too, even though Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Currin have had to give some help in the last minute rushes. The annual dead-line gave us a scare and we had to work like the dogs that we are. But somehow we have managed to get through our last year in the doghouse. Now we are leaving the kennels, but we'll always remember our dog house days with pleasure. Dog-gone-it! We're down-right sorry to leave.

The Varsity (until this year known as the Monogram Club) activities produce sprains, strains, broken bones, scratches, bruises and black eyes. These marks of honor won for the glory of old L. H. S. make the heroes of the school, and the student body is proud of its brave contestants.

4-H'ers learn to use and not abuse hands and heart, head and health, knowing that in them is found a wealth of work and love of knowledge and vim.

We spend our time making our money to feed our fellow Hi-Y members and they spend their money to entertain us. Indeed there is a spirit of splendid co-operation between the Hi-Y and the Tri-Hi-Y. Joking aside we've worked to carry out our platform of Clean Speech, Clean Sportsmanship, Clean Scholarship and Clean Living, and "as usual" the boys do even a better job than we.

The Beta Club is supposed to be the smart folks' circle, but lots of 'de brains in the ring just don't act. Brother, they hate to study and lessons kill 'em! But that's beside the point—the twenty-three "buzzing bees" who think they have the brains in the upper deck managed to get in the circle and they have Beta pins to prove it.

"All Gaul is divided into three parts" and the Sosolitas Latinae has plenty of gall judging from those posters the new members wore on their backs for initiation. Those daring people who undertake to dig into a dead language, made known to the people everything from "kiss me" to "kick". The "club of Latin Students" is a real gone club. Hic! (haec! hoc!)

Books are friends, never gossiping, never angry, never unkind, always ready to teach, to entertain and to help. Our hats off to those of the Library Club who take care of our loyal comrades.

The way to a man's eyes is through attractive dress and figure—the way to a man's heart is through his stomach—the way to a man's contentment is through a well-kept home. Girls, take Home Ec!

Upon the farmer depends the future success and welfare of the nation. Upon "our" future farmers depend the future of many of the L. H. S. girls.

Busy as ants, scurrying hither and thither, are the D. O. students. We suppose the ants accomplish something; we know that the D. O.'s do. They believe, too, although work is a good diet, work and play is a better one. Golly, have you ever attended one of the D. O. shindigs and watched Mr. Witten give a dance fantasy?
